DEATH FOLLOWS Give Away Whiskey At Show

New York Theater Tries Novel Stunt Which Won't Get Very Far.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18-Prohibition Enforcement Agent James Shevlin today put a crimp in the most alluring and most successful press agent stunt hat New York has known since the day the Indians sold Manhattan Island for $24 and a keg of rum. This s how it happened;

In the second act of the opening of a new show last night the chorus sang I've got something,' and sure it had. During the song the girls handed out small bottles containing one snifter of Old Carstairs whiskey to the audience. The bottles were labelled "Compliments of Arthur Hammerstein." Just as Mr. linmmerstein was working on plans to handle the box office crush today. Mr. Shevlin came out with a statement saying that he would investigate and if he found that the theatrical man was giving away whiskey he would make it uncomfortable for the aforesaid theatrical man.
